

Obituary

JOHN ADDLINGTON DAVIES, B.Sc.

With deep regret we have to announce the death of one of the first members of the Society, John Addlington Davies. Cut short in what promised to be a distinguished archæological career, his published researches show what archæology in the West of England will miss by his untimely death.